Dear Clubs

Football Queensland has recently become aware of a private operator in the Northern region promoting a “professional international select squad” for female Football Queensland Premier League (FQPL) players that inappropriately utilised materials featuring the FQPL logos and intellectual property.

Football Queensland advises all clubs that this operator is not endorsed by, affiliated with, or sanctioned by Football Queensland and has no links or association with federated football or the FQPL competition. Further, the private operator has no links to Football Queensland representative teams.

The operator’s reference to the opportunity for players to represent Queensland overseas is misleading. Football Queensland is the only body recognised by the Queensland Government and Football Australia that is authorised to offer the designation of representative state team selection and progression to national teams as the approved provider of advanced pathway programs in Queensland.

FQ has initiated action against this operator to prevent them from engaging in conduct that is likely to mislead or deceive the football community.

We’d appreciate if you could share this information with your club members who may have received correspondence from them.

End.
